Translating Science into Solutions for Better Health

Team Science Workshop:

Building a Shared Language and Vision

What you'll learn:

- The importance of having a shared language and vision within teams to expand participants' ability to engage in a shared vision discussion.
- Examine how unacknowledged differences impact team dynamics and productivity.
- Learn how to practice team reflexivity and perspective-taking.

Faculty, staff, trainees, and students are all welcome to attend.

The workshop is designed to be useful to all team members.
