

Seminar Series: Advancing Healthcare at Home for Children and Their Families: Lessons in Healthcare Policy Research and Implementation

During this 1-hour session, Dr. Foster discusses translating health services research into state-level policy change and reviews how health services research on access and quality of in-home care for children with severe disabilities can inform state-based policies, including determinations of eligibility for services and expansion of paid family caregiving legislation and regulation.

Following this event, you will be able to:

- Illustrate the current deficits in home healthcare provision for children, including its inequitable and negative impacts on children and families.
- List the American laws from the 20th Century which guarantee access to healthcare to children with disabilities and complex medical needs outside institutions, like hospitals.

Location: Via Zoom

Carolyn Foster, MD, MS
Professor of Pediatrics,
Northwestern University
Feinberg School of Medicine

DATE & TIME:

December 2, 2025

12:00 - 1:00 pm PST

SCAN ME

This program is open to all eligible individuals. SC CTISI operates all of its programs and activities consistent with the University's Notice of Non-Discrimination. Eligibility is not determined based on race, sex, ethnicity, sexual orientation, or any other prohibited factor.

Individuals with disabilities who need accommodations to attend this event may contact SC CTISI at communications@sc-ctsi.org. It is requested that individuals requiring accommodations or auxiliary aids such as sign language interpreters and alternative format materials notify us at least 7 days prior to the event. Every reasonable effort will be made to provide reasonable accommodations in an effective and timely manner.