

THE DIGITAL SCHOLAR

TRAINING INITIATIVE

Giving Back:

Strategies for Effectively
Communicating Results
Back to Research
Participants

Register
Here

In this 60-minute webinar, our facilitator discusses the importance of returning results to participants, strategies for doing so effectively and easily, and novel ways to present complex information and data to the lay public.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this webinar, participants will be able to:

- Recognize the importance of returning results to research participants.
- Implement strategies for effectively communicating research results back to participants promptly.
- Practice applying strategies to your research and receive immediate feedback.

Nicki Karimipour, Ph.D.

Dr. Karimipour is Associate Director of Communications at SC CTSI

She establishes and maintains essential relationships with key stakeholders within and outside of the Institute to further CTSI's reach, mission statement, and adoption of services among local investigators and nationally.

Date: March 2, 2022

Time: 12pm – 1pm

Location: Online via Zoom